Scenario 1

The head of the Center for Teaching and Learning at your institution teaches VARK to students in a “Study Strategies” course. She wants to create an online version for distance learning students, and you have been assigned to help her create it. What do you do?

Scenario 2

A professor emeritus is still teaching one night class each semester and wants to learn how to use your LMS to provide students with materials. They are photocopied articles from 1992, but he has students act out scenarios and watch movies, so he’s confident that he’s teaching to all learning styles. How do you help him have a good semester?

Scenarios 3

The head of HR has a pet training he developed himself in 2002, consisting of video and multiple choice quiz questions. It is an hour long. Everyone hates it. You’ve been asked to partner with the training department to make it better. What do you suggest, and what rationale do you provide to the lead trainer?