Second Life Unplugged: A Design for Fostering At-risk Students' STEM Agency

By the end of the project Shahzor had the following exchange with the PI:
PI: Where do you see yourself in 5 years?
SQ: I want to be an architect.

...

[AFTER presenting his project to a group of scholars at the University of California, Berkeley]

PI: What was your favorite part and what was the hardest part?
SQ: It was just hella fun cause these people they never saw anything like that so every time you show them they see they was like WOAH! It makes you really feel appreciated, they really like my work you know, give you a little confidence....Nothing was hard.
